

U. N. Strength In Congo Is Debated

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP)—The U.N. commander in the Congo asked for more troops Friday to deal with mounting violence, but Indian Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon promptly questioned the need for reinforcements.

Maj. Gen. Sean McKeown, Irish commander of the 15,400-man force, made his bid at a private session of the 18-nation Congo advisory committee summoned by Acting Secretary-General U Thant.

Thousands Pay Tribute Last Rites Today For Sam Rayburn

BONHAM, Tex. (AP)—The body of Sam Rayburn lay in state Friday in a magnificent marble library, and the friends and neighbors who idolized him most filed past solemnly in a parting, mournful tribute.

There were tight-lipped men, women dabbing at their eyes, youngsters out of school — all honoring the man who served as speaker of the House for the longest span in history.

These were the people from Rayburn's home town and the rich black countryside in the congressional district he served for 48 years.

Saturday, President Kennedy will lead a pilgrimage of many of the nation's notables to the funeral at 1:30 p.m. for the speaker who died of cancer Thursday. He was 79 years old.

Friday was the day for the humble folk and the people of Bonham and their neighbors.

Rayburn's body was taken from the funeral home in the morning to lie in state for 24 hours in the simple, Georgian-style Sam Rayburn Library which now will be a Rayburn memorial. Friends and associates, who will be the pallbearers, served as an escort.

The plain, gray casket trimmed with silver was placed in the library foyer, a square room with walls of dark Italian marble, glowing with bits of red.

To one side was the bronze bust of Rayburn by Felix de Weldon, sculptor of the famed two Jima memorial in Washington.

Many Of Them On the opposite side, to the right of the entrance, were 33 gavels Rayburn pounded on historic occasions. He said not long ago that, "I have used thousands of gavels."

The casket blocked the doorway to a duplicate of the office of the speaker in the Capitol at Washington. But there was a glimpse of the glittering chandelier. It once burned gas. Now it uses electricity. And it once hung in the White House and then, in 1907,

Five are missing and presumed to have died when the mast of the 60-foot charter craft snapped last Sunday in a 15-knot breeze, tore a hole through the hull and sent her plunging to the ocean's bottom.

A sixth passenger, Terry Jo Duperrault, 11, also was believed lost until a passing freighter found her unconscious Thursday on a tiny raft. The little blonde girl, in critical condition after 63 hours of exposure, was gaining strength Friday in a hospital here.

Harvey, 45, a retired Air Force officer whose wife, Mary, 34, apparently went down with the Bluebell, checked into the Sandman Motel under an assumed name after routine questioning by the Coast Guard.

About noon a maid, Clara Mae Jackson, entered his room to clean it and saw blood trickling from under the bathroom door.

A policeman who knew Harvey personally, B. I. Naylor, was sent to the scene and found the body. He said Harvey slashed veins in his neck and left thigh with a razor blade.

A two-page letter left for James Boozer, a Miami advertising executive and personal friend of Harvey, made no mention of the loss of the Bluebell, but said that Harvey was "tired and nervous" and couldn't go on any longer.

Harvey had been involved in two other boating accidents. On Oct. 21, 1955, his yacht Torbatross struck the sunken hull of the Sokolsky.

there make up more than one-third of the entire U.N. force in the Congo.

Krishna Menon told the council "India might or might not be able to supply more troops."

The advisory committee meeting was called to hear the views of McKeown and Conor Cruise O'Brien, chief U.N. representative in Katanga Province, who were called to New York for urgent consultations after the massacre of 13 Italian airmen in Kivu Province.

The Security Council listened to a plea from Belgian Foreign Minister Paul-Henri Spaak that his country be accepted as a collaborator in the task of ending the Congo crisis. Spaak said Belgium opposed the secession of Katanga, and that he personally had urged President Moise Tshombe to return to the fold of the central government.

It was the first time the acting secretary-general had met with his advisory committee, made up of nations which have troops in the U.N. Congo force, or have contributed to it.

The meeting was behind closed doors, but reliable sources gave this account:

McKeown said he needed more troops in the Congo. He stressed that he should be able to dispatch a battalion, or approximately 1,000 troops, instead of 250 when trouble flares in a Congo spot.

Smaller Groups Indian Defense Minister V. K. Krishna Menon disputed the need for more troops. He said that soldiers in large numbers were apt to stumble over one another, and that the emphasis now is on smaller contingents.

U Thant, who presided, remarked for obvious reasons the advisory committee was not the best place to discuss military matters.

U Thant called McKeown and O'Brien home from the Congo for consultations. It will be up to U Thant to request more troops if he believes they are needed.

One restraining factor is the financial crisis in which the United Nations finds itself because of the Congo operation.

A 15-nation study group reported that it has been unable to find any formula for bringing in much needed dollars to support peace-making forces in the Congo and on the Israeli-United Arab Republic frontier.

Rockefellers Plan Divorce

NEW YORK (AP)—Republican Gov. Nelson A. Rockefeller, a potential presidential candidate in 1964, has parted from his wife of 31 years and they plan a divorce.

Their decision to break up the marriage, announced Friday, was described as amicable.

Associates said the impending divorce will in no way dissuade the governor from running for reelection next year. The effect it might have on his presidential prospects was problematical.

Mrs. Rockefeller, a tall, slender woman of 54, is an heiress in her own right to a railroad fortune. Her husband's multimillion-dollar fortune was based originally on oil, but the family holdings are now highly diversified.

No Forewarning The announcement that the marriage was at an end came with no forewarning. Mrs. Rockefeller had not been seen with the governor recently, but this was attributed to a minor illness she suffered some months ago.

Rockefeller and his wife already have parted, and he has moved from their Fifth Avenue apartment after an agreement was reached for a legal separation.

"It is anticipated that the terms of the agreement will be incorporated into a subsequent decree of divorce," said a statement from the family offices in Rockefeller Plaza.

The Rockefellers have five grown children.

The announcement said that a property settlement has been agreed to, but did not specify details.

Mrs. Rockefeller will live in New York, while the governor will share his time between the executive mansion in Albany and the New York apartment of his brother, Laurence S. Rockefeller.

A spokesman for the family declined to go much beyond the formal wording of a four-paragraph statement that announced the impending divorce.

He did say, however, that the divorce will be obtained outside New York state, which grants no divorces except on grounds of adultery.

Moreover, the spokesman said it would be reasonable to assume that Mrs. Rockefeller would seek the divorce, although he would not say where.

The spokesman would not say when the Rockefellers reached their decision to separate. He did say they already are living apart.

Rockefeller, 53, flashed onto the national political scene with tremendous impact when he was elected governor of New York in 1958 on his first try for political office.

He was given consideration as a GOP presidential candidate in 1960 and is considered one of the stronger possibilities for 1964. Meanwhile, he has announced that he will seek re-election as governor next year. He is regarded as a leader of the more liberal wing of his party.

Mrs. Rockefeller will retain the 20-room triplex apartment the couple has in New York at 810 Fifth Ave. The Rockefellers also maintain homes in North Tarrytown, N.Y.; Seal Harbor, Maine, and Washington, D.C.

Dr. Boehm commended the school directors and the residents of the area for their thoughtfulness and vision in erecting the new school building.

He said, "The names of your school directors belong high on the honor roll among the most deserving of your civil servants. I doubt whether most of them will ever render a greater contribution to this community than their service on this board."

"I dwell upon this because too many, far too many, directors play right into the hands of our adversaries by sitting back and letting the school drift," he continued.

"They do so because they are either unaware of the importance of the schools or do not understand the nature of the worldwide conflict with Communism," he concluded.

Introduces Speaker C. Willis Dunlap, supervising principal of the jointure, introduced Dr. Boehm and many other guests.

On the stage were Carl Secor, supervising principal of East Stroudsburg Area Joint Schools; Earl Groner, superintendent of Stroud Union Schools; John Mills, supervising principal Pleasant Valley Joint Schools; Dr. LeRoy J. Koehler, president of East Stroudsburg State College; Judge Fred W. Davis and several other men from school districts or boards in the area.

Dr. Edward T. Horn Jr., president of Pocono Mountain Joint schools delivered the welcome address. He spoke briefly of the sacrifices that were made and will possibly be made in the future to make the school possible and to continue its function.

The key of the building was turned over to George Niering, president of the building authority, by a representative of the general contractor, Boyd H. Kline.

Niering then turned the key over to Dr. Horn, who accepted it in behalf of the jointure. He presented the key to C. Willis Dunlap. Dunlap called Lawrence Wile, high school principal to accept it for the school.

Lawrence Wile accepted gifts from various organizations that were given to the school. He thanked the PO of A from Tannersville, Mount Pocono and Mountainhome. The American Legion from Pocono Pines and Canadensis and the Legion Auxiliaries from Pocono Lake, Mount Pocono and Canadensis.

SWIFTWATER — Dr. Charles Boehm, superintendent of Public Instruction, was the main speaker last night at the formal dedication of the new $2,300,000 Pocono Mountain Joint Junior-Senior High School.

Growth in Self-Discipline

ILLUSTRATED SUNDAY SCHOOL LESSON

By Alfred J. Buescher

Scripture—Matthew 7:13-14; Luke 9:23-25; Ephesians 4:25-32; II Peter 1:2-11; I Corinthians 9:24-27.

Christ pointed out two sources in life, one through a wide gate down a broad and easy path "to destruction," the other through a narrow gate down a hard trail of self-discipline "to life." Only a few find the latter. —Matthew 7:13-14.

Christ asked, "What does it profit a man if he gains the whole world and loses or forfeits himself?" He advised His followers to take up their own crosses for His sake, "for whoever loses his life for My sake, he will save it."—Luke 9:23-25.

Paul advised the Corinthians to exercise self-control as athletes do, so he can win the laurel wreath of victory. For Christians the prize is a glorious and eternal one—a part of the "divine nature."—I Corinthians 24-25; II Peter 1:4.

Paul also said not to "let the sun go down on your anger." Self-discipline is essential to avoid petty anger and jealousy, which harms the originator more than its object.—Ephesians 4:26. GOLDEN TEXT—I Corinthians 9:25.

Growth Is Through Self-Discipline

By N. Speer Jones

ONE OF the most sorely needed qualities in the world today is discussed in this lesson. The tensions of the cold war with its ever-threatening overtones of complete destruction, the material richness of our civilization with its ever-expanding zone of leisure time—these are conditions which make self-discipline essential for our spiritual, if not physical, survival.

It is needed first in making the basic decision we all must face—whether we are going to live for ourselves alone and according to this world's standards, or whether we are going to live for the Lord.

The passage from Matthew makes it plain that there are only two alternatives; there is no middle road between the difficult, narrow path and the wide, easy way of the crowd. The self-discipline required to choose and to stick to the narrow path is inspired only by the ultimate destination of the two roads—one to destruction, the other "to life."

This same basic decision is beautifully illustrated again in the famous passage from Luke, pointing out the two sets of values which exist in this world's and God's.

Wilbur Smith points out in "Peloubet's Select Notes," p. 381 that the "cross" in this passage is not that borne by every mortal of illness, death, poverty, etc., but that suffered for the sake of Christ.

The other passages in the lesson assume that one's decision for Christ has been made; the problem is then to implement that decision despite the myriad tribulations and temptations which inevitably beset us as humans.

Paul exhorts the Ephesians to practice self-discipline to keep out the devilish faults of petty anger, revenge, dishonesty, gossip and slander. When Paul says to "be angry," he means to exercise righteous indignation for Christ's causes; it is the canker-like anger of our own petty rivalries he condemns, an anger which harms us more than our adversaries.

Paul also advises self-discipline in language; our words can either destroy or bring new life into others.

Peter reminds us that we can be "partners of the divine nature." For this glorious goal we can be inspired to bend every effort to acquire such virtues as self-discipline.

James Iverach (in "Peloubet's Select Notes," p. 385) points out that self-control is the prerequisite to patience and to many other virtues. He urges us to be patient with ourselves in our battle against sin of all kinds. When we are patient with ourselves, we can also be patient with others; when we are patient with others we can exercise Christian love.

The reference to blindness (II

Peter 1:9) means that those who do not realize these virtues are hampered by forgetting that they have been cleansed of their old sins, and are free to work positively.

The citation from Corinthians reminds us that it is often easier to demand discipline from others than from ourselves.

Speaker at the Service will be the Rev. L. W. Chappel, pastor of the Pilgrim Holiness Church of Pocono Lake. Participating clergymen will be the Rev. Jerry Crossley, host pastor, and the Rev. Elmer G. Meissner, pastor of Salem United Church of Christ.

Music will be presented by combined choirs of the participating churches.

Thanksgiving Services At Pocono Lake

THE SECOND annual Community Thanksgiving Service sponsored by the churches of Pocono Lake will be held Thanksgiving Day, at 9:30 a.m., in the Pocono Lake Methodist Church.

Rev. Sinclair To Speak Sunday

REV. JOHN H. Sinclair will be the guest speaker at the 11 a.m. service of the Presbyterian Church of the Mountain in Delaware Water Gap.

The Rev. John H. Sinclair, Secretary for Latin America of the Commission on Ecumenical Mission and Relations of the United Presbyterian Church in the U.S.A., has given twelve years of service as a missionary in Venezuela and Chile. In his present position he is responsible for the administration of Presbyterian work in these two and six other countries in Latin America.

Appointed in 1948 by the former Board of Foreign Missions of the Presbyterian Church, U.S.A., and assigned to Venezuela, Mr. Sinclair was first stationed in Caracas where he gave assistance in the New Life Movement and in youth work.

In 1951 he was transferred to the Christian Rural Center near Occumare. This project consists of a cooperative farm to acquaint farmers with better methods of agriculture, a clinic run with the help of doctors in the area, classes in simple cooking and crafts, and preaching throughout the area.

Mr. Sinclair served as director of this important rural program until 1956 when he was transferred to Chile at the invitation of the Presbytery of Chile.

TRIBESMEN CONVERTED—TRICHINOPOLY, India (AP)—A Roman Catholic missionary, Rev. K. Ritz, reports that progress is being made in conversion of aboriginal tribesmen in southeast India to Roman Catholicism. Most of the conversions have been among animists, persons who previously worshipped mountains, rivers and trees.

New Field Of Research Opens To Hebrew Scholars

By JULES LOH

Associated Press Writer

A brand new field of research will be opened to Hebrew scholars next year because of the cooperation of Catholics and Jews in a mutually beneficial project.

The Vatican Library's vast collection of Hebrew manuscripts will be copied on microfilm and sent to Jewish-sponsored Brandeis University in Waltham, Mass.

A copy of the film will go to the Pius XII Memorial Library at Jesuit-operated St. Louis (Mo.) University where a voluminous collection of Vatican manuscripts already is preserved on microfilm.

The new manuscripts will reflect the development of Middle Eastern and European Jewish learning during the medieval, Renaissance and early modern periods, a Brandeis University spokesman said. They include Biblical commentaries, mostly on the Old Testament. Precisely what they contain, however, won't be known until scholars of all faiths begin to pore over them.

Officials of the Pius XII Library, seeking a sponsor for the $20,000 copying project, approached Brandeis University last year.

The university was interested, but likewise without a sponsor. Brandeis President Dr. Abram L. Sachar turned to his friend, Richard Cardinal Cushing of Boston. The cardinal collected $30,000 from his archdiocese to put the project over.

"This was the latest in a long series of expressions of encouragement from Cardinal Cushing," Dr. Sachar said.

A Brandeis spokesman pointed out the cost of the project doesn't at all reflect the value of the documents to the university. "The manuscripts obviously are of incalculable value," he said, "if only because they aren't available from any other source."

Charles J. Ermatinger, film librarian at St. Louis University, said the documents are especially important because of the role played by the Jews in the spread of philosophical and scientific learning in the Middle Ages and during the Renaissance period.

The Rev. Lowrie J. Daly, S. J., who originated the St. Louis collection, explained the Vatican Library's more than nine miles of shelves are divided according to languages in which the texts are written.

The work should be completed by next fall, Father Daly said. It involves 800 volumes which will be reduced to 300 rolls of film, each 100 feet long. The whole project is described as tantamount to copying 25 years of the New York Times.

Parson To Parson

TOPIC OF CENSURE—Where was the organized protest against a lewd and filthy book displayed for public purchase? Are the churches under a spell of some sort that they dare not speak out against evil inventions that destroy morality?

We all love and cherish the Freedom of the Press, but is it freedom to poison and warp a person's mind and character? No. Freedom is not abandon to write anything one wants if it has the power to make money.

Surely this heritage we have is not meant to be freedom to wallow in smut and corruption. Officials do not wish to take any action. "Who" they say "is to be the judge of what is good or what is bad?" Every one of us deep down in his heart has a knowledge of what is good or evil.

"If we lack this, we have a 'Rule Book' to guide us. The Rocket Age has not out-dated the Bible!

A few local people had the courage to discuss this literature problem over the radio.

Sumner Schwartz, one of our bigger newsmen, took it upon himself to clear the racks of a book he thought unsuited for public reading and returned them to the publisher. This undoubtedly was a direct profit loss to him. Thank you, for taking action "where angels feared to tread."

One school of thought on the matter seems to be "Let's take no notice of it, and perhaps it will go away!" True, sometimes publicity tends to make more people buy something of this sort just to see what all the commotion is about.

No matter how you look at it, evil works will not vanish if only you will close your eyes. We need men of action who will cry out in a wilderness against things that we know are wrong.

The publisher was not timid about shoving this trash at us. Why should we be so timid to reject it?

Let us stand up and be counted; we know what we should do in these matters. Let our voice be heard against corruptive influences to our society.

If book and magazine publishers do not know what the public wants to read, then by all means let us tell them!

Zion Church Makes Plans To Renovate

THE Consistory of Zion United Church of Christ of Stroudsburg took another step in the direction of renovating its church school plant at a recent meeting.

It voted unanimously to engage the architectural firm of Rinker, Rinker, Kiefer and Rake, to work with the proposal committee in drawing up plans for renovation.

At the same meeting, the General Chairman, Herbert Nonnema, announced the following sub-committee chairmen: Proposal Committee, Bernard Rowe; Finance and Resources Committee, W. C. G. Peterson; and Publicity and Arrangements Committee, Rev. Joseph Carr, assisted by Mrs. Harold Cleaver.

The decisions taken so far, have been worked out in cooperation with the Church School staff, headed by Superintendent Victor Koch.

Prayer of thanksgiving

SLOWLY, WITH FERVENT FEELING

"The day passed so quickly
—there just wasn't time!"

We've said that about many days. Never say it about Thanksgiving.

For it isn't true ...

All days pass at the same steady pace. We have the same daily portion of time — to spend as we think best.

Take time to be thankful.

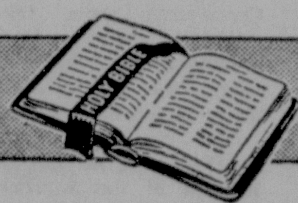

And be thankful for time!

Our souls do not realize their destiny in one hurtling leap.

An hour of Thanksgiving.
An hour of worship. An hour of Bible study. An hour of service for our Church. Thus we grow ... SLOWLY, WITH FERVENT FEELING.

THE CHURCH FOR ALL ... ALL FOR THE CHURCH

The Church is the greatest factor on earth for the building of character and good citizenship. It is a storehouse of spiritual values. Without a strong Church, neither democracy nor civilization can survive. There are four sound reasons why every person should attend services regularly and support the Church. They are: (1) For his own sake. (2) For his children's sake.
(3) For the sake of his community and nation. (4) For the sake of the Church itself, which needs his moral and material support. Plan to go to church regularly and read your Bible daily.

The Revealing Verdict

Way back in 1956, the Federal Trade Commission began investigating the pricing policies of those of the nation's foremost drug manufacturing concerns. In 1958, anti-trust charges were filed against half a dozen companies. Now the charges all have been dismissed.

Robert L. Piper, the FTC examiner on the case, found that the companies were engaged in active price competition on bids to get orders from hospitals and governments. He found that identical prices for drugs were common, however, in sales to retailers.

But he reported that the identical prices, like the differing bids to hospitals and governments, demonstrated competition, not the lack of it.

When one reputable firm offers a thousand pills to a druggist at one price, another firm cannot win the order by offering the same pills at a higher price. If one firm's costs are less, it can get the order by offering at a lower price.

In fact, that is what has happened. Most drug prices are substantially lower today than they were when the drugs first were introduced. Volume and new methods of production make reductions possible.

And when the first firm to make a break-through in cost-cutting reduces prices, the others must cut prices, too, and try to reduce their costs or quit making the drug in question.

And that's how identical prices are born.

It is to be regretted, of course, that the companies involved have had to spend years searching their records, giving testimony, briefing lawyers and paying out the costs of defense. But it may all be worth while if the outcome is considered carefully in certain quarters.

Right now, there are several prominent members of Congress who have gotten the notion that identical prices are clear evidence of a lack of competition.

The FTC's carefully-considered decision demonstrates why this isn't so.

Collusion between competitors to fix prices is quite properly forbidden by law, but the fact that prices of identical products are identical is no evidence of collusion by itself.

Another Tax Gimmick

Church, fraternal and civic groups and other non-profit organizations in Pennsylvania which engage in fund-raising activities of one kind or another would be seriously affected if Pennsylvania should adopt a ruling similar to that made by Illinois state officials regarding the payment of sales taxes.

Church "rummage sales," a fund-raising enterprise that is popular among local groups, have been ruled a taxable "business" in Illinois. This subjects these and similar activities to the state's three per cent sales tax. The ruling was made on grounds that such things compete with private business.

On this basis, a wide variety of fund-raising projects by non-profit groups in Pennsylvania would come under the state's sales tax regulations. For example, church suppers for which a charge is made. They could be construed as competing with restaurants. Then, there are bake sales. After a fashion, they compete with commercial bakeries. And there are church bazaars, where articles made or donated by women of the congregation are offered for sale.

What about door-to-door sales of candy, greeting cards and other articles by school classes and Scout units. These, too, compete with private business in some form.

Meanwhile, the federal government goes right on competing with many types of private businesses which pay heavy taxes, while the tax-payers foot the bills for the government-sponsored enterprises.

The Pennsylvania Story

By Mason Denison
Unequivocal Stand—The Law-rence Administration's Department of Health unquestionably makes no bones about where it stands on the controversial issue of water fluoridation.

If you have any doubt, ask for a copy of the department's four-page pamphlet that has no official title but splattered across the front page in half-inch letters is this admonition: "Your Health Department, Your Physician and Dentist Urge You to DEMAND Water Fluoridation To Prevent Teeth Decay And Improve Your Health."

The pamphlet, mailed throughout the state on a bulk rate basis, at one point asks this question: "What Can You Do To Get Fluoridation Water In Your Community?" and then answers itself in part as follows: "Petition your mayor and city council. Write to them. Form community action committees. Demand water fluoridation. Do not allow your city officials to 'duck' the issue because of the noise the opposition makes. Make them face the reality that it is their decision to pass an ordinance to fluoridate the water."

Elsewhere in the pamphlet is this admonition: "If you receive material against fluoridation, consider its source."

Fortunes Of War!—Most certainly it was indeed a "fortune of war" that brought State Supreme Court Judge-Elect Henry Xavier O'Brien to the annual convention of the Pennsylvania Council of Republican Women here this week!

When the program was originally drafted for the GOP confab no mention was made of the GOP judicial candidate's appearance whether he won or lost. . . . But after his surprising win last week the GOP ladies decided they'd better include him in the convention deliberations—so announcement was duly made as the convention opened its doors that he would "attend sessions" . . .

Commented one GOP distaff observer: "Well, that just goes to show you—if he had lost the race . . . pffft. He won—so here he is, a rightful hero of the hour . . . That's the fortunes of war though—political war, that is."

Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, Jr.—The death this week (funeral services yesterday) of Anthony J. Drexel Biddle, Jr., United States Ambassador to Spain, left a pall of sorrow and deep regret over Capitol Hill for there was a Pennsylvania whose legion of followers and admirers knew no partisan bounds.

Around Pennsylvania's Capitol Hill he was oftentimes referred to as "the old master"—connoting a respect and admiration rarely found in the oft-times jaundiced eyes of Capitol Hill partisans. . . . As the Keystone State's Adjutant General, prior to his latest ambassadorial appointment, "Tony" Biddle was invariably the stand-out in formal-state functions—suave, impeccably poised, thoroughly at home no matter what the circumstance, but perhaps more important than anything else in a personage of his unquestioned status and rank, ever the thoughtful, considerate one no matter with whom he happened to be.

Diplomat extraordinary, an Army officer with a distinctive record in two world wars, part and parcel of a distinguished Philadelphia family and a former society sportsman, handsome 64-year-old General Biddle was named Pennsylvania's State Adjutant General first by Democratic Governor Lawrence and then by Governor Sproul. . . . It is significant and indicative of the respect and esteem with which he was held that when his appointment came up for confirmation in the Republican-controlled State Senate, although a Democrat, his confirmation sailed through with full GOP support and praise. . . . Similarly only last February when he left his state post for the ambassadorial post in Spain, he received an almost unheard-of outburst of praise and approbation from Senate Republicans!

Anthony J. Drexel Biddle—indeed persona grata extraordinary.

Off The Record

By Bob Clark

M. Stiles (Marty) Baldwin, the man who'd rather do something for others than eat, endeared himself closer to the hearts of the Stroudsburg Rotary Club this week by presenting another spotlight personality and sports authority at the group's annual toast to the Stroud Union and East Stroudsburg High football teams.

Baldwin, known across the country for his work on the inside of the inside of athletics, secured Dr. John Bateman, a rugged gentleman who is better known for his tutoring of Rutgers eleven than his "book learning."

But like Julia, Bateman fools you. The self-tagged poor man's Jackie Gleason is an accomplished speaker who can spice humor with a deep analysis of his game—football.

The local educators who attended the Rotary's festivities Thursday, came away with praise of Bateman's talk. Perhaps it was because an educated man was tossing around the words in an educated way.

Getting back to Baldwin, the Pococ's chief ambassador of goodwill, has spread over the years plenty of cheer to sports enthusiasts here. It always has been the old question and the same answer:

"We need a speaker? No we don't, Baldwin will get one for us."

And Marty did countless times for countless occasions. It seemed, too, on each successive outing the caliber of the guest of the rostrum got better.

Like old wine, Marty's vintage of speakers got tastier with these come-into-towners are just friends of Baldwin. Only the other day, Paul Dietzel, already a coach of the year, phoned the Stroudsburg RD resident and clinic this summer.

"My wife and I want to come back to the Pococ's," the Louisiana State University coach told Marty.

"We just fell in love with the territory the last time we were there," the recent conqueror of then-unbeaten Mississippi said.

Harry Truman announced: "If we're strong we won't have any trouble with the Russians."

The Truman administration's defense economies are one reason we are now having trouble with the Russians.

Reported the N.Y. Times: "A Democratic Congressional leader accused the Kennedy Administration of dealing 'a devastating blow' in the cancer research program. Representative John E. Fogarty (Rhode Island) said he had sent telegrams to Administration officials protesting the $102,000,000 cut in the budget of Health, Education and Welfare Department agencies."

But we continue squandering our billions of dollars on Communist chief Tito and other ingrates. What irony! We pay criminals and impede the war against a killer.

The Associated Press recorded: "Under Secretary of State Chester Bowles said that 'some of our most respected fellow citizens' are turning to isolationist thinking and would have the U.S. abdicate its responsibility as a world power."

In a world of rockets and jets, isolationists should be isolated in padded cells.

Confessed Judy Garland: "It's not that I'm cynical or discouraged or tired. But I've discovered that part of the wonderful richness of the world is in its imperfections. The land that lies over the rainbow is probably a terrible bore to live in anyhow."

Life is imperfect art. Perfection is a dead masterpiece.

From the wire services: "The Soviet Government keeps saying that the reason for their nuclear tests is that the West is preparing to start a war."

That alibi is a lie. It can be proven by the fact that Moscow's air raid sirens haven't been used for a test since World War II.

Prime Minister Nehru orated: "I hope we never come out in any abusive way to any country. There is a difference between cold war and non-cold war. We are non-cold war."

Broadcasting Magazine editorial'd: "Broadcasting in the U.S. today stands in grave jeopardy. Politically powerful groups, and efficiently organized groups, actuated by selfishness and with a mania for power, are now busily at work plotting the complete destruction of the industry we have pioneered and developed."

Broadcasting's major problems are internal. They are represented by timidity, skepticism, cynicism, commercialism and mediocrity.

Contended a teevee writer: "Many members of the press insist on the immature privilege of having the last word or they camouflage as a reportorial act what should be unmistakably labeled as an editorial criticism or interpretation."

The initial essential of a journalist is to tell the facts. More important than whether his views are critical or interpretive is whether they are true or false.

Raymond Moley's view: Liberals are not knaves. They are naive. They are not delinquent. They are deluded. They are not wicked, but witless."

Liberalism is a magnificent ideal. Unfortunately, it has been perverted by certain alleged liberals. Some of liberalism's worst enemies are its friends.

Joan Crawford's argument: "Stardom used to mean something. It had to be earned. Now it happens overnight to young actors."

Stardom once was the consequence of talent. Not publicity.

Marshal Montgomery hailed Red China's chief: "He's a very sincere man. When you look at him you have a feeling of sincerity—a very fine, strong face. He's the sort of man I'd go in the jungle with."

Hitler carried out his bestiality with the utmost sincerity. Mussolini had a strong face. Mao is a tyrant and a killer. He has made China a jungle. The tragedy of Montgomery strikes a melancholy historical note: The hero of Alamein has become a foolish old man.

Publisher John H. Whitney's comment: "News is not simply what happens. It is what news-men find out and what we read with understanding."

News has many dimensions. Political, moral, economic and psychological. It is a link with the past and a bridge to the future.

Poet John Ciardi noted: The dateline psychosis is a human disaster. I prefer my news aged for recognition. Rush it onto the streets with a still-smearable dateline on it and I don't much care. The world cannot be read in wet ink."

My dear fellow, when news becomes aged it is no longer news. It is history.

Inside You And Yours

Can You Supply The Clue?

By Burton H. Fern, M.D.
"Dear Doctor? My stomach hurts. Is this serious?"

It could be anything from innocent indigestion to a critical cancer!

To tell which, your doctor has to ask hundreds of questions. Questioning uncovers 8 out of 10 clues. Examination and laboratory tests find the rest.

Four out of every detail, but don't waste time moaning about your need for pain relief. Your doctor knows this; that's why you're here.

First, when did the pain start? What were you doing—sitting, bending, weight-lifting? You could have strained a muscle.

Where The Pain? Put one finger on the spot that hurts most. Is it up near the throat? Or down towards the womb? Has the pain shifted about? As kidney stones slide down, back pain spirals around the front of the bladder.

Do you feel the ragged-knife pain of appendicitis? Or the dull ache of congested blood vessels? How else would you describe it? Steady? Colicky? Does it wax and wane?

Do your clothes seem tighter around the waist? When do you feel most pain? Bending over?

Congressional Quiz

The Supreme Court

By Congressional Quarterly
The Supreme Court recently began its 1961-62 term with a record number of cases pending, including important cases on legislative apportionment, civil rights and anti-trust matters. This quiz tests your knowledge of the history and operations of the highest court in the United States. Try for four correct answers.

1. True or false: The Constitution specifies that the number of Supreme Court justices shall not exceed nine?

A—False. The number of justices is set by Congress. In 1937, President Franklin Delano Roosevelt unsuccessfully tried to "pack" the Court with six additional justices after the Court overturned a number of New Deal measures.

2. Since 1789, when the Supreme Court was established, there have been (a) 92; (b) 127; (c) 387 justices of the Supreme Court?

A—(a). One appointed to the Court, Robert H. Harrison of Maryland, was appointed, confirmed and commissioned in 1789, but resigned before taking the oath of office.

3. True or false: The jurisdiction of the Supreme Court is limited to cases on appeal from lower courts?

A—False. Article III of the Constitution gives the Court original jurisdiction in cases involving foreign diplomats or in which one of the states is a party to the dispute.

4. Which of the following justices of the Supreme Court were appointed by President Harry S. Truman: (a) John Marshall Harlan; (b) Hugo L. Black; (c) Tom C. Clark; (d) William O. Douglas?

(c). Clark was appointed in 1949 and remains the only Truman appointee currently on the Supreme Court bench. Harlan was appointed in 1955 by President Eisenhower. Black and Douglas were Roosevelt appointees.

5. Q—Can you name Chief Justice Earl Warren's predecessor?

A—The late Fred M. Vinson. He was appointed Chief Justice by President Truman in 1946 and served six years.

6. Q—True or false: There is a requirement that all men appointed to the Supreme Court have previous judicial experience?

A—False. There are no educational or experience requirements for membership on the Court, although the last four appointees to the Supreme Court, Justices Harlan, Brennan, Whitaker and Stewart, were chosen from the federal or state benches.

7. Q—Which of the following former Chief Justices were also candidates for President either before or after their terms on the Court? (a) Charles Evans Hughes; (b) William H. Taft; (c) John Jay; (d) Oliver Ellsworth?

A—All four. Hughes was Republican candidate in 1916. Taft was elected President in 1908 and defeated in 1912. Jay, the first Chief Justice, was a candidate in the non-partisan election of 1788 and again as an Independent-Federalist in 1796. The Shadow Of Molotov

The reduction of Molotov to the position of an outcast is one of several indications that Khrushchev is having as much internal trouble as everybody else is these days. We have a tendency, in this country, to believe that Khrushchev is a mighty dictator who is never opposed. External evidence clearly points to considerable internal troubles in Soviet Russia.

The concept of a monolithic state in which the people are held in tutelage by an oligarchic party is apparently proving to be false. Such a state can only be held together by murder. Stalin killed the deviationists, no matter what friendship may have existed between them.

He regarded the party as the central point of his existence and he established a blind obedience which recognized no difference of view. Even such heroic figures as Trotsky and Tikhonchovskiy had to make way before this concept of a unified, monolithic state.

The Russian Revolution is in its third generation of leadership. Stalin and most of his associates had played a role in the Revolution and had known Lenin. Stalin, himself, was a Commissar in the Smolny Institute and lived in the tradition of the early days of underground activities and Siberian repressions.

Khrushchev did not emerge until World War II. He was an assistant to Kaganovich in the Ukraine. It was not until Stalin needed some butchery in the Ukraine that Khrushchev emerged as an efficient operator. But, in office, Khrushchev has taken on bourgeois morality. He does not kill; he exiles.

Those whom he reduces are historically greater men than he has been until very recently. Who is the upstart Khrushchev to compare with Molotov who was a revolutionist under Lenin?

Khrushchev's major difficulty arises from the fact that Stalin built the new Russia. He absorbed more than 15 nations. He horn-swoggled the great Roosevelt and forced the greater Churchill to accept his program. He pushed Russian power to the Mediterranean, to the South Pacific and into Germanic Europe.

What can Khrushchev do to compare with Stalin? He must defend the United States; move Russian power to the Rhine and unify all the nations that Russia has conquered. Stalin could kill because the Russian people feared that conspiracy would destroy their gains.

He cultivated such a fear and established a reign of terror. The Russians were proud of his achievements although they lived in fear of his methods. They gloried in his enormous gains which were larger than those of Peter the Great and Catherine, but they realized the enormous moral cost of his leadership.

Khrushchev has not the will or power to equal Stalin. He therefore turns in despair to the abuse of Stalin, even removing the ghost from its sarcophagus. It is the fear of Stalin's ghost which upsets Khrushchev even as the King in Hamlet found himself living in terror of his predecessor's ghost.

As long as the memory of Stalin remains with the Russian people, Khrushchev cannot establish an image of himself. He remains one of the people, not Ivan the Terrible but a nachalnik who no longer gets drunk and who has an Italian tailor.

Therefore, Khrushchev must remove every symbol of Stalin, including the men who served him, even Kaganovich who picked Khrushchev out of the mines and gave him a chance at greatness.

Molotov symbolizes the greatness of Stalin in international relations. He served under Maxim Litvinov and he played a part in every growth of the nation under Stalin. He was an old Bolshevik and as such, possessed a revolutionary seniority equal only to that of the aged Voroshilov who was not permitted to sit on the dais of the great. Blot out the memory of Stalin by removing the associates of Stalin, among them those who helped to make the Revolution!

The people do not seem to take kindly to Khrushchev's assertions of importance and so, he falls back on an old Russian technique, one that has had a long tradition in the Ukraine. He stimulates a pogrom on the Jews.

But even that is different, because instead of mass murder of Jews, as was done during the Kishineff Pogrom in 1903, he sets out to destroy Jewish culture, Jewish religion, the Hebrew language. As an imitation Haman, he would divert attention from his futility to antagonism to the Jews.

Poor Khrushchev! He uses desperate weapons. He is a frightened man.

Farm-City Week Being Observed

THE seventh annual observance of Pennsylvania Farm-City Week began yesterday and will run until Thursday, Nov. 13.

The National Farm-City committee is composed of representatives from more than 150 major farm organizations, industries, businesses, government, educational and church groups.

Farm-City Week emphasizes a closer relation between rural and urban segments of the American economy. Concentrated exchange of ideas and information is emphasized between the two environments.

However, everyone benefits from the program. The farmer is interested in selling what he produces at a fair price and the market buyer wants to purchase high quality foods and goods for the consumer.

Roughly ten million persons are now at work in marketing farm products. This estimate includes people directly engaged in assembling, processing, wholesaling, retailing and transporting farm products.

Different Leads Mark Chess Moves

TWO CONTESTS for informal types of leadership marked the Thursday night session of the Stroudsburg Chess club at the Main Street headquarters.

Harold N. James, recognized as informal club champion during the absence of champion James Heatherington in college, was taken on by Earl Weiss, Stroudsburg, known in the club as its best second string player. In the first game Weiss clobbered the former king of the hill in a game that drew much attention. James however, then took two consecutive games from the Southsider.

While this was proceeding, William P. Deering, whose claim to be cellar champ has been allowed by the club was defied by Louis Mondelle of East Stroudsburg. But Mondelle lost.

The second game went to Mondelle and the third seemed consigned to the East Stroudsburger. The contest went into a long endgame, when Deering caught Mondelle's king flat against the board's Margin in the sixth square on the castle's file and mated him.

Just Between Us—

By Bobby Westbrook

As short as five years ago, mothers of rebellious freshmen were sometimes hard put to it to answer the challenge: "Now, honestly, Mother, what practical use do you make out of algebra or physics?"

It always seemed a little feeble to point out that you could always use algebraic proportions to make one and a half times a recipe, and your knowledge of inclined planes to pry up a thumb tack. Not now, though. Now I'd have my answer down pat: "Why, to make flower arrangements, my dear!"

You doubt it? Well, just try to copy the arrangement using a parabolic curve Mrs. Phelps had at the Garden Club the other day without a knowledge of both: a right angled circular cone formed by a plane perpendicular to one of its elements, indeed!

To come down from the space age to more earthy things: I understand Ada Sommers has about decided that its easier to cope with bank robbers than with some of the gags her friends have dreamed up since the second robbery. Ask her to show you that package she won't take out of the desk drawer.

And while you're asking embarrassing questions, ask Lucie Kenney and Helen Maguire why they were driving with such super-discretion yesterday; or Mary Fontanella why she began to feel like a jumping jack at the State Republican convention.

But never mind asking the Skitter's about my new and unorthodox bowling stance!

Portland WSCS At Newbaker's

Portland — The Women's Society of Christian Service of the Portland Methodist Church were guests of the Misses Daisy and Hilda Newbaker at their home on Delaware Ave.

Mrs. Van Why Garden Club President

Mrs. Edgar Van Why was re-elected president of the Monroe County Garden Club at their meeting on Thursday afternoon at the YMCA. Other officers elected were: first vice president, Mrs. J. Harold Lanterman; second vice president, Mrs. Bernard Peters; recording secretary, Mrs. Edward C. Knob; corresponding secretary, Mrs. Ernest Schwartz; financial secretary, Miss Grace DePue; and treasurer, Mrs. Vernon Wallace.

A moment of silent prayer was observed in memory of Mrs. Montgomery F. Crowe, honorary member of the club.

The club was invited to the Christmas Flower Show of the Allentown Garden Club to be held Dec. 7, 8 and 9 at the Allentown Art Museum. Mrs. Van Why reported on the trip to the Garden Club Federation Christmas Party in Philadelphia. The members praised the practical and economical Christmas arrangements demonstrated by Mrs. Francis W. Sheehan, arranger for Longwood Gardens.

Arrangements brought in by members were described by Mrs. Paul Fetherman. Mrs. J. Harold Lanterman showed how to use rhododendron in Christmas decorations and had an arrangement of bronze mums around a bronze figurine. Mrs. Elwood Grant used orange, gourd and dried material in a horn of plenty she had carved from a large gourd and also had a dried arrangement of wood roses from Hawaii.

Mrs. Willis Goddard had made "Fairy Balls" from balloons, paper towels, flour, water and cord; Mrs. A. Starr Phelps had two arrangements based on the modern concept of the parabolic curve; conceived by Menacchus dating from 350 BC with the name dating back to Apollonius in 220 B.C.

Space Age Arrangements
Mrs. Phelps explained it as a section of a right angled circular cone made by a plane perpendicular to one of its elements. Demonstrated by Mrs. Sheehan at the Christmas party, the curve is related to the space age as the path of a projectile moving through a non-resisting medium with constant acceleration. It is suited for contemporary decor when it is bold, striking and bare of embellishment, Mrs. Phelps explained.

Mrs. A. H. Mathieson, horticulture co-chairman, brought to the meeting a small camphor tree which she had grown from seed over a two-year period.

Mrs. Russell E. Hamblin, Roadside chairman reported on the Roadside Council which advocated better facilities at Roadside Rests. Miss Grace DePue reported on the trip to the Metropolitan Museum of Art.

Other plans and preparations will be made by Mrs. Blaine Siglin and Mrs. Wright Gibson for Miss Henry's grade five. During the month, John Sengle, sixth grade teacher, will have assistance from the rolls of those who have volunteered by mail.

Mimeographed copies of the by-laws will be sent home to each family for study prior to the next meeting to be held January 8. At this meeting a panel discussion will be held on the subject, "Homework."

"Parents Responsibility" was discussed by Lester Bowers ESSC faculty member, David Guthrie, program chairman, introduced the speaker.

"My Lady Walks in Loveliness" and "I Love Life" were solos sung by Robert Wolbert. Mrs. Wolbert accompanied her husband.

DUCK FOR THE OYSTER — and dance for the benefit of the Monroe County wildlife given by students at the college this week. Sponsored by the Recreation Council, the money will be turned over to the District Game Protector. Left to right are four juniors: Bob Renschler, Circle City; Becky Ross, Mechanicsburg; Christine Albright, Lansdale; and Bruce Thomas, Green Lane. (Alice Hastings)

Home room mothers have been notified of their appointment and are requested to be present for the meeting. At the business meeting, the selling of magazine subscriptions by students will be discussed pro and con. Some parents have objected on the

New York, as the guest of the Pocono Art Center.

Mrs. Henry Surrey showed colored slides of gardens she had visited in Japan, China, Formosa and Hong Kong as well as the temples and other spots of beauty.

Tea was served from a table decorated by Mrs. Paul Fetherman, featuring a light brown cloth and a centerpiece of dried grasses, seed pods, combined with fresh fruit with soft yellow gourd as candle holders. The food was also in shades of brown and yellow. Mrs. Eli Travis and Mrs. Edgar Van Why poured. Other hostesses were Mrs. Bernard Peters, Mrs. Arthur Widmer, Mrs. Vernon Wallace and Mrs. Howard Kester.

STROUSBURG, PA.

Cutest little shopper in our store Wednesday was the tiny tot in yellow jeans and a white turtle neck sweater who looked exactly like Small Stuff, the doll that sells for 3.98 in our Toy Store. Small Stuff has one long, golden lock of hair extending from the forehead to the back of the head, and so did this child. The resemblance was amazing.

If I were to buy foundation wear every time Betty Colvin of our corset department suggests it, I would be the best corseted woman in Monroe County. But I don't. The latest garment to catch her eye for ME is a satin-back leno elastic Whirl-Eze with criss cross boning over the tummy. It is priced at 8.95, sale priced this weekend at 5.99, and if I needed a girdle I'd gladly give it a whirl, for I know the gentleman who represents the company, and I have faith both in him and his merchandise. But right now I'm wearing a 2.98 two-way stretch purchased during our October sale, and I'm happy as can be. The Whirl-Eze is a lovely garment, however—so, if you need a good, sturdy garment, ask Betty to fit you with one.

If I had all the money in the world, one of the things I'd buy me (yes, even at my age!) would be a Raggedy Ann doll. All my life I've wanted one. I might even buy her brother, Raggedy Andy. And if I wanted to be really frantic with my wealth, I'd buy both in all sizes. They range, dollar-wise, from 4.49 to 9.98 . . . but aren't they fun?

Incidentally, don't try to tell me older women don't buy dolls for themselves. I've learned that they do! Just yesterday a customer told me her mother buys a doll every year—presumably for the grandchildren to play with when they visit her. "But," said my informant, "whenever the grandchildren come visiting, she is careful to see almost all of them are packed in their boxes and put into a LOCKED closet."

The woman with her chuckled, and said this story reminds her of her own mother. That venerable woman, now in her seventies, has been buying dolls, and receiving them as gifts, for years under the same pretext: they are something for her grandchildren to enjoy when they visit. "But her youngest grandchild is now sixteen and she still wants a Christmas doll . . . what do you make of that?"

I make of that that Mama is warm-hearted, tender, and maybe a bit lonely . . . if she wants a doll give her one—the cutest you can find. Another acceptable gift might be a puppy, or a kitten.

Our puppy is a darling, and we all dote on him. No one could help it, he's so very willing to give, and receive, all the affection possible. But occasionally he lets his heart run away with his head, as he did the other evening when he welcomed me home vociferously by leaping upon the bed, standing upright to reach me, and quietly stealing one of my earrings while I petted him. They were my favorite pearls, too—and he chewed all the outer surface away before we caught him. Doris Hinton was delighted. "I think Herky should have a citation," she said, "for working in behalf of my department." Maybe she'll even slip him a bone in his Christmas stocking!

Which reminds me . . . you did know, didn't you, that we sell boots for dogs in our Notions department? I can just see Herky now, trudging through a snowbank in red rubbers. I'm sure even a part-beagle would find these a bit much!

Science Fair Unit To Set Admissions

NINE members of the Monroe County Science Fair committee held a planning meeting in The Daily Record office on Thursday evening under the chairmanship of Ned Frick.

A preliminary survey among science teachers in the schools exhibiting in the fair was made to determine if the formation of an Admissions committee would be acceptable. It was the opinion that such a group would be beneficial.

The responsibility of the new committee will be to see that all exhibits for the fair next March at the armory conform to the rules and regulations laid down by the committee in its prospectus. It will consist of three members, one chosen from each of three of the four schools participating. Members will rotate periodically until a three-year term becomes standard.

A drawing was held for membership on the new committee with the following schools to supply a member for the term designated: Stroudsburg, 2 years; East Stroudsburg, 2 years; Pocono Mountain Jointure, 1 year. A representative of Pleasant Valley will become a member for three years next year to fill in the place vacated by Pocono Mountain Jointure.

The rules and regulations in the present brochure will be revamped and clarified by Tom Kapp and mimeographed copies of the revised text will be given to the teachers prior to the next meeting, at which time they will be discussed and adopted.

Next meeting of the committee is scheduled for Thursday, Jan. 18, at The Daily Record office.

Pictures Are Certainly In The News These Days

By Helen Harrington

PICTURES are certainly in the news these days with the current exhibitions, and paintings of local artists decorating banks, battlefields and shop windows in both towns!

I stepped into the East Stroudsburg National Bank to have a last look at the present contemporary show there, hung on invitation by the Pocono Art Center.

Seeing a young woman standing admiringly before a painting by Sterling Strauser, called "Top of the Gap," I asked her what she thought of the exhibition.

Mrs. Julius Botelho of East Stroudsburg, R.D., replied, "I think the modern art goes with the decor of the bank. I think the compositions are well chosen and well placed."

Nearby hangs a painting of Nancy Hebard's called "Winter Patterns," which receives much approving attention, the colors seem to intensify a winter mood, while her Mahoning Valley in another room is an interesting example of how an abstraction can suggest reality.

Agnes Dyer has a painting called "Shapes in Space," with patterns moving in colorful harmony. Ruth Cron's "Forms" add a note quite in agreement with the colors and lines of its surroundings. And so does the wood sculpture of Richard Phillips, called "Confused Man."

"Became Part"

Seeing Jesse Flory, I asked him how he felt about the abstract paintings, and he replied that at first they had seemed like "something different," but now he feels they have already become part of the whole arrangement. His favorites, personally, are "Memories," by Clara Neider, with color brilliant as a sunset, and Marcia Clapp's deep-toned "Winter Tapestry." Attracting the eye at the back of the bank is to be seen the striking pattern of "Shapes in Space," by Helen Hoehne.

On the second floor of the bank are hung representational paintings, all of which enhance the pleasure of the viewer, showing, in the halls, paintings by Henry Evans of "Rescue," "Trees" and "Swamp," while David Harrington has two small paintings of "Boats on the Amazon." Dr. Claus Jordan's flowers decorate the Lounge, as well as the Roses by Betty Rentel, and more "Flowers" by Marcia Clapp brighten the kitchen.

Next week the public, as well as the people in the bank, will have an opportunity to see how traditional paintings appear in the same bank's contemporary atmosphere, for the bank has asked the Pocono Art Center to hang such a show, beginning Tuesday.

High School Chatter

East Stroudsburg Stroud Union

By John Lesosne

APRIL 10, 1958 marked the beginning of a new era for the East Stroudsburg School System. The State Department of Public Instruction approved project number 1019, which now in its completed stage is the new Junior-Senior High School.

Planning for the new structure was begun much before the time of the State Department of Public Instruction's approval. In January, 1955, The East Stroudsburg Area Joint School Authority was formed by the Joint School Committee.

The committee set up a "pay as rent" plan. This meant the six districts in the jointure would pay rent each year. The amount of rent being determined by the market value of real estate as determined by the State Tax Equalization Board.

The ground breaking ceremonies for the new school were held Jan. 21, 1959. With this action the dream of a group of men dedicated to providing the best education possible for area children came one more step nearer reality.

Sept. 19, 1960, was the date of embarkation for students in the first year in the new school.

Approximately 975 students are enrolled in the school, the faculty has 52 teachers. To keep the building clear and functioning there are eight janitors.

The area of the school is 148,000 square feet and the volume is 2,354,000 cubic feet. The cost of the school was $2,750,000.

"The future life of our nation depends on an educated populace. Never can eyes be closed to the fact that buildings alone cannot insure the future of our country. The tradition, high moral, physical and academic standards of the old school will be continued. We Students look confidently to the future for we know that our destiny is in our own hands."

We, the students, wish to extend a vote of thanks to the members of the joint school committee, joint school authority, the boards of education from East Stroudsburg, Lehman, Smithfield, Middle Smithfield, Price and Porter Townships. Also Supervising Principal Carl T. Secor, Junior High School Principal Theodore Miller, Senior High School Principal Ralph Burrows and all others who aided in making project 1019 a reality.

Rings On Barrett Calendar

by PAT WILLIAMS

BARRETT — Any week in Barrett has residents hoping to make meetings, but this particular one had more rings on the calendar than most.

The open house and dedication of the Pocono Mountain Jointure school had a goodly number of people from the area in attendance. And, not just parents. After all, as the remark was overheard, "every taxpayer has a stake in it."

There was guides for tours of the building, which makes the trip easier, than on the students who still manage, if not to get exactly lost, to become a bit confused.

Choir members from the Methodist Church and Moravian Church have been blending their voices in the special anthem for Wednesday's Thanksgiving Worship.

Monday night, the Senior Chorus will be led by Mrs. Donald Price, in practice at the Pocono Playhouse. Miss Rowena Stevens and Philip Pasquini have been voted thanks for the use of the auditorium and in making arrangements.

A large number of worshippers are expected to gather for this "Count Your Blessings" service being hosted by the Moravian Church. Rev. John O'Neill will give the message.

The menu for the Big Day features tried-and-true-turkey and hassles on the football field. Spirits will be high and voices higher, with the most thankful thing on everyone's list, a comfortable bed at the end of a very full day.

The high-school set is prominent for tonight's "Waistline Dance" sponsored at the YMCA by the Girl Scouts of Troop 56. Dieters, take note, here is where it shows.

The Barrett 'Y' News staff has gone on record welcoming Steve Decker to their Saturday Camp. Highlight of the issue and the camp on Saturday goes to Rick Noone. He reports a conversation between a pair of newlyweds. The groom upon offering to wash the dishes is told by his bride that she doesn't think the paper plates will stand another washing. Our hero has a solution: he will erase them.

Any week is liable to show up with a gloomy day, and if it should, that "save, for a rainy day" advice is good, if what you saved was a pile of socks to darn or a hem to take up or a knee to patch.

What beats the cozy sound of rain on your roof with a heartfelt of contentment and a small task to busy hands so that you can sit back and enumerate your blessings? Seems the work runs out before the list is finished. Even a gloomy day is something to be thankful for.

By the way, are you saving for the next rainy day?

Hearings Set On Road Protest

PHILADELPHIA (AP)—Protests by individuals and groups could affect the final route of the proposed Midcounty Expressway through Delaware County into Montgomery County, says S. C. Weiskert Jr., a state Highways Department district engineer. The route will be discussed at public hearings Dec. 7-8.

By Stroud Union School Board

No Action Planned On Northampton

NO ACTION has been taken in the case of Stroud Union vs. Northampton and none is planned. However, Mrs. Sophie Stulgaitis, a member of the Stroud Union School District board and wife of Mountaineer football coach Jerry Stulgaitis, feels that something should be done to end the yearly beatings Northampton hands Stroud Union in football. The topic was brought up by Mrs. Stulgaitis at Wednesday's meeting of the board but no steps were taken. Most of the members of the board felt that something should be done but it was left at that.

"I wanted to do something about the situation," says Mrs. Stulgaitis, "but the other members climbed on my head. I couldn't get anyone to commit themselves."

Northampton beat the Mounties 72-0 last Saturday and a year ago, the Konkrete Kids won 73-7.

Mrs. Stulgaitis feels that Stroud Union should cancel football relations with Northampton and if necessary drop out of the football portion of the Lehigh Valley League.

The board felt that if Stroud Union dropped out of league football, it would not be able to take part in league basketball and baseball contests.

Clarence Roeder of Emmaus, president of the Lehigh Valley League said Friday that if the Mounties drop out of the football, it does not necessarily mean that they will have to give up basketball and football games in the league.

"The league would have to decide what will happen to the Mounties," said Roeder. "Nothing like this has ever come up, so it's hard to say what would happen. The league holds its next meeting Dec. 6 at Slatington High School.

Roeder added, "the rest of the league should not try to tear down Northampton but should try to build its teams to compete with Northampton."

Asked if he thought Northampton coach Al Erdosy tried to run up scores, Roeder replied:

"I don't think he tries to run up scores, I just think he doesn't realize what the score is. However, I am not in favor of high scores."

Mrs. Stulgaitis would like to see Stroud Union drop out of the Lehigh Valley League and form its own league with other teams in the Pocono State Belt area.

"I think we can form such a league," says Mrs. Stulgaitis, "but it is going to take someone with courage to start it. Since the principals run such leagues, I guess Mr. Munson will have to start the ball rolling."

"We lose money by playing Northampton," Mrs. Stulgaitis added, "they don't bring any fans with them when they play up here and it is that way with most of the other league teams."

"People in the area want Stroud Union to get into a local league," she added "but the school board doesn't want to act."

Munson has a different view on the merits of the Lehigh Valley League.

"The league has been good to us," says Munson, "and it would be hard to leave it."

However, he did add that since there were so many new schools going up in the area, now might be the time to consider a new league.

Most Will Stand Pat

Only Few Changes Seen For Turkey Day Contests

ALL AREA high school teams except Stroud Union, plan to play the cards they hold for Thanksgiving's football clashes.

Mountaineers coach Jerry Stulgaitis said he planned several new things for the game with East Stroudsburg on turkey day morning but he declined to mention what the new cards were.

Except for a personnel change or two because of injuries, the other coaches will stand pat.

Most of them have taken the attitude of East Stroudsburg coach Jack Kist. "We came this far on what we have, and there is no sense putting in anything new now."

Although he isn't putting in anything new, Kist is spending a great deal of time polishing the old. The Cavaliers scrimmaged Thursday, despite a heavy rain and soggy field.

Full Squad Kist will have his full squad in uniform Thursday at Gordon Giffels Field but at least one of the players won't be able to take part in contact work. He is Earl Metzgar, a co-captain, who suffered a concussion in the Lehigh game. Kist said Metzgar and another injured co-captain, Brian Farris, will go on the field for the toss of the coin.

Farris sprained his ankle against Hellertown but there is a good chance he will be available Thursday. The senior halfback has worked out with the club this week but has not gone at top speed.

East Stroudsburg has scouted Stroud Union four times and Kist feels that the players his club will have to watch out for are Mountie quarterback Warren Loney and halfback Tom Schatzman.

Stulgaitis had hoped to have three of his injured players, Dave Shay, Bill Morse and Glenn Bisbing back for the final game but it is not likely that they will play. Morse injured his elbow against Bangor, Shay is sidelined with internal injuries and Bisbing injured his shoulder at mid-season.

Loney Back Loney, who injured his shoulder against Slatington and sat out last week's Northampton game, will be back Thursday.

Stulgaitis considers this year's East Stroudsburg team, "one of the finest in the history of the school." He is impressed with the Cavaliers' speed and power.

When the Cavaliers and Mountaineers end their morning get-together, Bangor and Pen Argyl will take over at Weona Park.

Bangor, which has had a tough time with injuries this year, lost a third player to a broken leg last week. Tackle Bill Holland, a 205-pounder, fractured his right leg against Hellertown in the Slaters' 13-12 loss.

Halfback Bill Yeager and end Ned Oyer are also out with leg fractures.

Another injury victim, Brian LaBar, has returned to the squad. LaBar, a halfback and quarterback, may get a new job. With Holland out, Frankie Holland, a brother, will be switched from end to tackle and LaBar will go to the flank post.

Poor Record Bangor goes into the game with a 3-6 record, with most of the losses being brought on by fumbles. Slater Coach Dakey Pritchard has spent extra time this week on ball handling.

Pen Argyl can capture its first Lehigh-Northampton League title since 1947 by whipping Bangor.

Coach Elwood Petchel's Green Knights will carry an 8-1 over-all mark into the game and have a 5-0 league slate.

Pen Argyl also claims the top scorer in the area. Halfback Gary Heard has 111 points, 12 points better than East Stroudsburg's Harold (Mach 2) Myers.

In league play, The Knights have scored 157 points and allowed 41. On an over-all basis, Pen Argyl has tallied 264 points and allowed 106.

Pen Argyl can also capture the Pocono-Slate Belt League by whipping Bangor. The Knights have a 2-0 league record, while East Stroudsburg has a 1-1 slate.

May Be Switched The site and time for the Pocono Mountain-Pleasant Valley game has not been decided. The game was originally booked for Pleasant Valley at 10 a. m. However, officials felt that the Pleasant Valley field does not have enough seating capacity to handle the expected crowd.

The game may be played at East Stroudsburg's Memorial Stadium and may be switched to the afternoon.

Pleasant Valley will carry an 9-7-1 record into the final game, while Pocono has a 3-1 record. The lone loss was a 13-0 decision to Stroud Union's junior varsity. Both schools are in their first year of football.

Pleasant Valley will have only fullback John Kresge out of action. Kresge broke an ankle in practice after the Pius game. Right tackle Barry Shupp and right tackle Ken Zacharias have been out with ankle injuries but are ready to play now.

Pocono has no injuries and has spent most of the week on passing offense.

The Daily Record Guess-Perts have picked Pocono as a solid favorite.

Bowl Bids, League Titles Highlight College Games

By JACK CLARY

Associated Press Sports Writer

Bowl bids and conference titles are at stake in wholesale lots Saturday as the 1961 college football season hits its next-to-last big Saturday.

With not one major bowl slot officially filled, to say nothing of the neophytes that have cropped up before the Christmas holidays, there are many rich plums to be plucked.

Six of the nation's top 10 teams are prime targets of the bowl selectors, with Ohio State and Minnesota of the Big Ten still undecided.

Top-ranked Texas, heading for the host spot in the Cotton Bowl, can clinch a tie for the Southwest Conference title if it beats Texas Christian. The Longhorns are 5-0 in the conference and 8-0 over-all.

A loss, coupled with a victory by nonranked Arkansas over Southern Methodist, would cause a first place tie.

Ole Miss Likely Texas' bowl opponent most likely

Ohio State is outside against Oregon. Another Big Ten team, ninth-ranked Michigan State, has no bowl hopes in its game against Northwestern.

Eighth-ranked Colorado (6-1), still leading the Big Eight and hoping for the nod from the Orange Bowl, meets conference for Nebraska, and must win to stay on top. Syracuse, ranked 10th with a 6-2 mark, takes on Notre Dame, and will announce its intentions after the game. A victory is expected to mean either the Gator, Liberty or Gotham bowls.

West Chester Favored To Win Against Slippery Rock

WEST CHESTER, Pa. (AP)—West Chester State, boasting a pair of hard runners, a devastating passing combination and a stout defense, is an overwhelming favorite to beat Slippery Rock Saturday in the State College Conference championship football game.

Winner of all but one conference game in the past three years, West Chester this season scored 250 points while allowing 106 to eight opponents. The points against are due to the fact that 40 were run by Villanova, a major college team.

Fullback Joe Iacone, halfback Jim Pribula, quarterback Vince Bonkowski and end Bill Gray are the offensive stalwarts for the West Chester team, which won 6 and lost 2 during the regular season. The other defeat was a 19-16 decision to Muskingum, a small college powerhouse.

Iacone, who has scored 54 points on 9 touchdowns—missed one game because of injuries—is the power runner. Pribula, second high scorer in the state with 83 points—Toby Barkman of East Stroudsburg leads with 90—runs well and does the team's place kicking. He has booted 26 conversions and 5 field goals to go along with 7 TDs.

Bonkowski has passed for 16 touchdowns and over 1,000 yards this season. He has recovered from a slight charley horse of the right leg and is expected to be in top condition. His favorite target is Gray, a former teammate at Conshohocken High School. The two teamed for four TDs last Saturday in clinching the conference's eastern title with a win over Bloomsburg.

Not Giving Up
Although West Chester, fast becoming known as the perennial conference champion, figures to win, Slippery Rock, western division king, isn't coming east just for the ride.

"The odds are against us, but we're confident they can be beaten," says coach Chuck Goddard. "It's going to be difficult, but they're not invincible or of super-human nature."

Slippery Rock also won 6 and lost 2 in regular season play, clinching the western division title last Saturday by beating Clarion. The leading scorer in Goddard's wing-T attack is end Jim McElhane with 48 points. Fullback Jerry Bibb has tallied 41. Halfback Duane Kirkien is the team's leading ground gainer.

Quarterback Tony Nunes, with McElhane as his prime receiver, has completed more than 50 percent of his passes and the two could prove more than a match for the Bonkowski-Gray duo.

The only common foe of the two teams was Clarion, beaten 21-14 by Slippery Rock and 51-20 by West Chester.

Ortiz Meets Paolo Rossi In TV Bout

NEW YORK (AP)—Carlos Ortiz, the No. 2 ranking lightweight contender, meets Paolo Rossi, in Madison Square Garden Saturday night in what looms as an action-packed 10-rounder. The winner has been promised a title shot against Joe Brown, the busy Houston slugger.

The bout between the New York residents will be nationally televised (ABC) starting at 10 p.m. EST. Ortiz, originally from Puerto Rico, is an 11-5 favorite to defeat his opponent, a native of Italy.

The 25-year-old Ortiz shows a 7-year professional record of 34 victories, four losses and one no contest. He has knocked out 12 opponents.

Rossi has an 11-year record of 36 victories, 8 defeats and 2 draws. He has knocked out 15. Rossi, the 10th-ranked 135-pounder, is 33 years old.

Johnson KO's West German

MELBOURNE, Australia (AP)—Don Johnson, Los Angeles lightweight, knocked out Quillie Quator of West Germany, in the fourth round of a scheduled 12-round bout Friday night.

Johnson, always a slow starter, was behind on points as the fight entered the third round but from that point on he dominated the scrap.

Villanova Accepts Bid To Sun Bowl; 4th In History

VILLANOVA, Pa. (AP)—Villanova University accepted an invitation Friday to play in the Dec. 30 Sun Bowl football game at El Paso, Tex., against an opponent to be named within the next 10 days.

Art Mahan, Villanova athletic director, announced the suburban Philadelphia university's acceptance to its fourth bowl game in its 67 years of football history.

Villanova previously played in the Bacardi Bowl at Havana, Cuba, in 1937, tying Auburn 7-7; the Great Lakes Bowl in 1947, losing to Kentucky 21-14, and the 1949 Harbor Bowl, defeating Nevada 27-7.

Two Defeats
Coached by Alex Bell, Villanova won 7 and lost 2 games during the regular season. The defeats were by Boston College and Detroit.

This was Villanova's first winning season since 1958, and pinpointed the university's new policy of playing within its class.

Such powers as Army, Navy and Miami were dropped in a program designed to make the Wildcats a winner at a slightly lower level of competition.

Your Horoscope

By FRANCIS DRAKE

SATURDAY, NOVEMBER 18, 1961
March 21 to April 20 (Aries)—It is not wise for you to tell all you know or interesting for anyone to listen to much personal news. Let this be a tactful, discriminating period, also a cheerful, propitious one.

April 21 to May 21 (Taurus)—We act as we think—more than we realize. When you do well, you have an orderly mind. If you lose control of temper or action, then proper self-restraint is missing, and some gains.

May 22 to June 21 (Gemini)—Here is opportunity, to be of outstanding assistance to those about you. Maintain a serene calmness and smiling attitude, though sufficiently thoughtful. Be objective in all.

June 22 to July 23 (Cancer)—As the weekend looms on horizon, forget essential items, preferential treatment. Then partake of the best recreational facilities and civic interests available. Mistakes to be avoided.

July 24 to August 23 (Leo)—If there is a wasted hour, then you are negligent. BUT, an hour of truly earned rest is your right. In p. m. mix with worthy associates, have educational hobbies. Look to sound principles.

August 24 to September 23 (Virgo)—Right time, and then no worrying, no postponing. AND no wasting time. Your mind is too keen and bright to be besieged by pointless items.

September 24 to October 23 (Libra)—If there is a chance for a few minutes relaxing from routine and pressing obligations—by all means use it. All work and no play brings an emotion, likely irritability, often ill health.

October 24 to November 23 (Scorpio)—Begin day with liberating thoughts. Some difficult spots indicated, but your abilities should cope with them handily. Be cheerful under trying situations. Think calmly, work smoothly.

November 24 to December 21 (Sagittarius)—You must be choosier, accurate and generally on the ball, to get a top score today. The challenge should be relished by you, an enthusiastic competitor, in sports or business.

December 22 to January 20 (Capricorn)—Feel hopeful, ambitious. Your ruling planet certainly is encouraging you on. May be some trials, but life is not a bed of roses, is it? Face up staunchly and obstacles will diminish.

January 21 to February 19 (Aquarius)—Weekend activities grow strongly indicated in them selectively. Be a careful judge of actions and trends. Enjoy leisure hours in healthy fun, intelligent reading, hobbies.

February 20 to March 20 (Pisces)—May tend to repeat, persist more than should. It will help others as well as you to be brief but not curt, direct but still kind. Necessary work favored, ALSO necessary rest.

YOU BORN TODAY are intuitive, ingenious, with a talent for storytelling, writing, organizing, leading groups. Possible tendency when sure of your ground to be tactful, which is not what you mean, so put on a curb. Nurture your versatile qualifications to a fruitful goal. Control changeableness and desire for pleasures when at times work is the prime factor. Inherently good-natured, friendly, popular. Study and continued application to your chosen profession is your keynote to reach the apex of success. Self-reliance and constant optimism are also musts. Birthdate of: Sir Wm. Gilbert, English playwright, humorist; Asa Gray, famed writer of botany text books; Rimsky-Korsakov, Russian composer.
